Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

It's unclear what element "a target resonance frequency" on the last lines of claim 3 belong to.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 3, as far as definite, and as best understood, is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US 5642618 (Penswick).

Penswick discloses a Stirling engine 10 comprising a displacer rod 150, springs (flexure bearing assemblies 154, 156), a washer 130. Said washer 130 clearly has a calculated weight, the phrase "achieves a target resonance frequency" is a process in an apparatus claim and is given little weight.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. US 5920133 discloses Stirling engine comprising flexure bearings with washer.
